

Course Syllabus

2026-10-05

Course information

Course: Course Title

Instructor: Instructor Name

Email: instructor@email.ca

Office hours: TBD

Class time/location: TBD

Course description

Add a short course description here.

Learning objectives

By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- explain core concepts using appropriate terminology
- apply course methods to real or realistic problems
- interpret results clearly and accurately
- communicate findings in a reproducible format
- reflect on assumptions, limitations, and uncertainty

Course materials

Required and recommended materials will be listed here.

Assessment

Component	Weight
Assignments	XX%
Quizzes	XX%
Midterm	XX%
Final project/exam	XX%
Participation	XX%

Course policies

Add policies for attendance, late work, academic integrity, use of AI tools, accessibility, and communication expectations.

Recommended Textbooks

- Devore et al. (2021)
- Diez et al. (2016)

Devore, J. L., K. N. Berk, and M. A. Carlton. 2021. Modern Mathematical Statistics with Applications. Springer Texts in Statistics. Springer International Publishing. <https://books.google.ca/books?id=ghcsEAAAQBAJ>.

Diez, D. M., C. D. Barr, and M. Çetinkaya-Rundel. 2016. OpenIntro Statistics. OpenIntro, Incorporated. <https://books.google.ca/books?id=wfcPswEACAAJ>.